

AutoMovie is a shortcut to producing your movie. When making a movie, using a predefined AutoMovie style would work best. An AutoMovie style determines how your titles and transitions look and behave. To make an AutoMovie, you must first identify the clips you want to include in your movie. These clips and the titles you generated should already be in Storyboard View. You then choose an AutoMovie style.

Step-by-Step Directions

Selecting an AutoMovie Style

1. Click Tools on the Menu bar.
2. Select AutoMovie.
3. The AutoMovie wizard appears.
4. Select an AutoMovie editing style.
5. Click Done, edit movie.
6. All your transitions and titles are added to the Storyboard.

Reviewing Your AutoMovie

1. Make sure the Playhead is at the beginning of the movie.
2. Click the Monitor pane's Play button to play the AutoMovie.
